Parts of The Body

Your body has many parts. Some parts protect you, or keep you safe. Your skin covers your body. It protects the organs inside your body. Some body parts help you learn about things. They are called your senses. Your eyes let you see what is around you. You listen with your ears. You can smell by using your nose. Your mouth lets you taste things. Skin helps you learn how things feel. All of these parts are on the outside of your body.

1. What is the main idea of this story?

- a. Your body has many parts.
- b. Skin protects other parts inside your body.
